

SafeNet eToken FIDO NFC authenticator (Enterprise)

The SafeNet eToken FIDO NFC Enterprise edition is a portable two-factor authenticator token that supports secure network logon in Windows 11 and other FIDO2-compliant operating systems. It offers both USB-A contact or contactless (NFC) options in one key. It can support authentication and digital signing, as well as secure remote access to VPNs, portals and cloud services. The token requires no special reader or training to use. The token can be developed, by the addition of FIDO2.1 Java applets, to support other security applications.

These keys were designed with large-scale roll out across enterprises in mind. Going beyond the FIDO2.1 standard, Thales Enterprise edition tokens support key management and policy enforcement, onboarding and PIN reset processes which were designed for IT team control, with enterprise appropriate high-security features. These keys will also operate as any other FIDO key for a single user. Certification to FIPS 140-3 L2 for the secure element is pending.

If you are managing these FIDO keys as an enterprise you could integrate the management of the keys into a Versasec credential management system or OneWelcome FIDO key lifecycle management solution. If you have not tried the Versasec credential management system, do contact us and we will arrange a free trial system for you, for up to 10 users.

You can also manage these keys with the SafeNet FIDO Key Manager (available from Google Play the Apple App Store or Windows Store or download installers for Windows or MacOS from the Thales Support Portal).
